Raindrops Class

All our new Raindrops have brought such joy and happiness into our school this year, and they have each made a tremendous job of settling in, helping each other, navigating each new day, and rising to meet the expectations of the classroom and life at Condoover.

They have certainly been busy, and I believe we may have some of Britain's most prolific artists in residence – our room is now dripping in drawings, paintings, collages, and junk-modelling. We have engineers, mathematicians, and architects to boot, and incredible towns, rockets, skyscrapers, and zoos spreading across the classroom floor.

The Raindrops have made a strong start in maths – it's subitizing central at the moment – and in Talk for Writing they have not only dived in the world of The Colour Monster with curiosity and enthusiasm, but also started to develop their own wonderful stories. It has been a wonderful start to our year, and I so look forward to seeing our youngest children grow in confidence, creativity, and joy as the year unfolds.

The Tale of The Colour Dragon

By Raindrop Class

September 2025

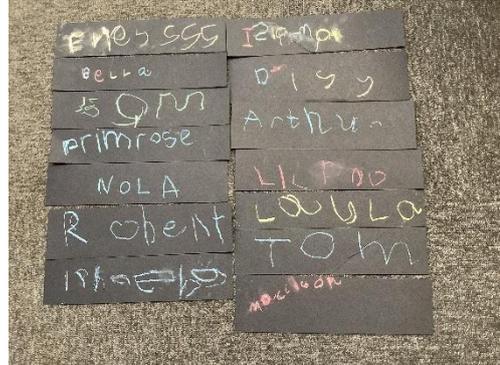

Once upon a time there was a Colour Dragon

One day he was blowing out fire.

Unfortunately he burnt his wing.

Luckily, he fell into a river!

Finally, he got a towel and dried himself off, and he felt better.
